Mackenzie King Asks Support in Public Interest

By Canadian Press Staff Writer.
WINNIPEG, Feb. 28.—Prime Minister Mackenzie King told a Winnipeg audience last night his government was not seeking renewed support simply to hold office "but because we think it is in your interests at this time when the world is faced with the most appalling situation of all times."

EQUALITY OF SACRIFICE IS C.C.F. PLEA

Coldwell Says His Party Would Nationalize War Industries

"It is time you had in parliament a group who will fight for equality of sacrifice," Mr. J. L. Coldwell, national chairman of the co-operative Commonwealth party, declared today at an audience of 1,000 Edmonton citizens in the Empire theatre Tuesday night. The C.C.F. declared would nationalize Canada's war industries at once, to prevent "profitable patriotism." On the platform with Mr. Coldwell, who was member of parliament at dissolution for Rosewater-Biggar, were Miss Mary Crawford, federal candidate for West Edmonton, Clifford Lee, federal candidate for East Edmonton, M. A. Ainsley and W. H. Miller, Edmonton provincial candidates; Elmer Roper, president of Alberta C.C.F. club and James Enright, campaign manager. Louis D. Hyndman was chairman.

London Does It Too

Thanks to the "blackout," London has a new traffic regulation, which forbids motorists to drive faster than 20 miles per hour after dark. The law means what it says, since there are special squads of traffic policemen and prowler cars to enforce it, and penalties running up to £100 for offenders.

When in past years the legislature of Alberta was asked to set a limit for motorists in this province the standing reply was that in Britain, where population was far more dense, there was no limit. It was left to the driver there to set his own limit, the conditions of the road account, and if he got into an accident he could not plead that he was keeping within any official suggestion of what could be considered a safe rate of speed.

That precedent is now gone, and cannot be cited as evidence that Edmonton and Calgary are defying experience in setting speed limits for these cities. The reason for setting a limit in London is the same as in Alberta cities. Too many persons were being killed under the "go as you please" rule.

Who Are They?

Pressed by insistent demands that he say who he would take into the "national" cabinet he would like to form, Dr. Manion went so far at Winnipeg as to say "a number of the best Liberals" are ready to join. Who are they? What are their names, their present occupations, their business associations, their backgrounds? What talent have they shown for administering public affairs, and what experience have they had in that field?

Members of the present Government, Dr. Manion says, "have not been asked" if they would take portfolios. Then who have been asked? What did the asking? What was the basis of selection, and the qualifications entitling one to be counted among the "best brains"? To what conditions were the selected ones asked to subscribe, or what obligations were implicit in the invitations?

These are questions the public have a right to ask and to keep on asking until they are answered. Is Dr. Manion trying to sell the electors a "pig in a bag"? What is the objection to naming the would-be directors of the nation's war effort and other public affairs? The Doctor should draw back his curtain and let the voters have a look at the array of talent he wants to put in charge of their business.

On the Up-Grade

Canada's external trade is growing steadily and rapidly, due no doubt largely to direct and indirect influence of war conditions. In January it reached a volume of more than $161 millions, against $114 millions in January of last year. Exports grew from $70 millions to $90 millions, and imports from $43 to $71 millions. Both exports and imports have been climbing since the commencement of war last September. That they will continue to mount, because of the same factor, may be supposed. That they will mount even faster as time passes it is reasonable to expect.

It would of course be better if this trade expansion was taking place normally, and not under the impulse of war-stimulated demand, but the war being under way, it is highly important that individuals and the nation that the trade reaction is upward. This means that production is increasing, employment becoming more plentiful, money going into circulation more widely, the average standard of living rising. In short, too, that war taxes are more easily paid by the citizen, a share of the cost can be met out of current revenue. Since there is a balance of accounts in our favor, foreign exchange is thus being provided with which to pay for war supplies we have to buy abroad.

Hoping Against Hope

The Foreign Ministers of Norway, Sweden and Denmark met on Sunday to talk over the precarious position in which their countries have been placed by the Soviet onslaught upon Finland. They concluded the conference with an expression of hope that the Finnish-Russian conflict may end in a peaceful arrangement by which "the full independence of Finland" will be recognized. That they expect it to end that way they did not suggest.

The Ministers said they found themselves unanimous in the view that their countries should remain neutral, and "fore-stalled criticism by saying they did not take this stand under pressure. Also, they would "raise serious objections to, and endeavor to avert, violation of principles of international law in the conduct of naval warfare."

These good wishes from their neighbors will not be of much assistance to the Finns. The outlook is that unless help comes from some quarter there will be no Finland at all when the butchery is ended, and not many able-bodied Finns either. No one knows this better than the three conferring Ministers. If the hope they expressed is impotent and despairing, it took courage on their part to say even that much. Diplomatic declarations that their countries are neutral of their own accord will not deceive Moscow, and does not obscure the fact that the three nations are living under the awful shadow of Finland's fate when the Soviet-Nazi conspirators get ready to strike.

"Raising objections" has not stopped Nazi U-boats from torpedoing Norwegian, Swedish and Danish ships, when engaged in their lawful business in accord with the plain terms of international law. The conferees can have had no illusion that they may look for any better treatment in future. Their hope in that regard is nothing more than a longing for immunity they do not expect to be conceded to them.

The conference itself will have broken up with a plain statement that while the Ministers understood Finland's position and their own they did not see that they could do anything about it.

Editorial Notes

By order the British Government has taken over United States securities owned by people living in the old lands. The owners will get current prices for their stocks and bonds in British currency, losing the interest they would get in dollars, and any increase in value that may come to the securities. That comes within measurable distance of being a capital levy.

Allied airmen report that in their reconnaissance flights over Germany they must meet with hostile fighters, and are not much bothered by anti-aircraft guns. Presumably the Nazis are so confident of their own strength they don't mind the Allied flying men taking pictures of their concentrations and defence works. But perhaps the explanation is that they have decided the ground is the safest place for their war planes when British and French fighters are overhead.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Orchids to Librarian Hugh C. Gourlay of Edmonton for the improvements he has made in the civic utility in his charge. After spending many months at the coast where their library is nothing to be said, due to civic pressure, I got a pleasant surprise on renewing an outdated membership card in Mr. Gourlay's palace of lights. (It was the great Beacon who said "Reading maketh a full man.") I don't know whether there has been a better display with regard to classification, accessibility, light, there are quite releases for study, and a spirit of hospitality in the invitations to read, and in the open-air dictionary in the reading room.

You need to go to a great and rich city like Vancouver to learn how good a public library Edmonton enjoys. Keeping open till 9 p.m. for five nights in the week and having the reading room open on Sunday afternoons are a boon to readers. Down in Vancouver the Lord's Day Alliance agents are active. No library dare open there on Sunday. They tried a few weeks ago to have the polo club on the new British Pacific properties on the north shore prosecuted for serving tea to members on a Sunday afternoon. The only places of entertainment open for the lonely man at the coast on Sundays are the pig pens. There's a more generous spirit in Edmonton.

It takes an Irishman to deal with an Irishman. Those of us who are of Irish origin remember that the only safe way to call an Irishman a liar is to claim a trait, say it five nights in the week and having the reading room open on Sunday afternoons are a boon to readers. Under the caption, "Lale in the Age of Dr. Goebbels," a writer quotes the little poem written some 200 years ago by a long-forgotten English poet, Robert Dodsley:

Man's a poor deluded bubble
Wandering in a mist of lies;
Seeing false or seeing double,
Who would trust to such weak eyes?
Yes, dreaming of his senses,
On he goes most wondrous wise;
Doubts of truth, believes pretences,
Lost in error, lives and dies.

Penned two centuries ago, it is nevertheless strikingly true of the millions of German at present doomed to live under the Nazi regime. —Helfer Herald.

100 Years of Soil Science

Canada's contribution to the chemical fertilizer industry during its first century of progress is related in a special hundredth anniversary article appearing in the January issue of the Oval. Prominently associated with the story of modern fertilizers is the name of the late Dr. Frank Thomas Shutt, C.B.E., Dominion Government chemist for almost half a century.

Referring to the beginnings of the industry which was to mean so much agriculturally in all parts of the world, the article goes back to the days long before scientific farming was even a dream. "Just 100 years ago," it relates, "A. Young and ambitious British scientist stood in an old barn at Rothamsted, England, treating old animal bones with sulphuric acid. At that hour the chemical fertilizer industry was born and a new age of agriculture had begun." By treating bones with acid the scientist had created superphosphate, a product which was given for fertilizer purposes at the rate of approximately 20,000,000 tons a year.

Dr. Shutt, the Oval article continues, was associated with the development of fertilizers as early as 1887. Throughout his lifetime the Canadian scientist worked in close collaboration with the British agricultural scientists, including Sir J. B. Lawes the chemist who developed the new science at Rothamsted.

The anniversary article is written by Leonard and L. Purcell and gives a complete picture of what is today an essential science. In 100 years, says the writer, the science of the soil has advanced from the days when farmers were longer a haphazard trial of poor or impoverished soil. In the laboratories of Canada and other countries scientific ideas have been developed and are still being developed to aid him.

A British View

"Assurance of Victory" is the title of a recent British White Paper, issued by the Ministry of Information. It is an account of the war effort of the British nations. From the section given up to Air Forces we quote the following: The Dominions have played a big part. During peace-time many hundreds of pilots from different parts of the Empire were pouring into the R.A.F. Since the outbreak of war arrangements have been made with Dominion governments for a rapid expansion of the training of pilots. The R.A.F. will be given advanced training to fit them for serving in the line.

The aim, in short, as Sir Kingsley Wood told the House of Commons, "is to achieve by co-operative effort air forces of overwhelming strength."

In Canada, far out of reach of enemy bombers, young men from many parts of the Empire have been given advanced training. They are now being sent to the front in the form of a platoon of high fliers.

100 Years of Soil Science

Canada's contribution to the chemical fertilizer industry during its first century of progress is related in a special hundredth anniversary article appearing in the January issue of the Oval. Prominently associated with the story of modern fertilizers is the name of the late Dr. Frank Thomas Shutt, C.B.E., Dominion Government chemist for almost half a century.

Referring to the beginnings of the industry which was to mean so much agriculturally in all parts of the world, the article goes back to the days long before scientific farming was even a dream. "Just 100 years ago," it relates, "A. Young and ambitious British scientist stood in an old barn at Rothamsted, England, treating old animal bones with sulphuric acid. At that hour the chemical fertilizer industry was born and a new age of agriculture had begun." By treating bones with acid the scientist had created superphosphate, a product which was given for fertilizer purposes at the rate of approximately 20,000,000 tons a year.

Dr. Shutt, the Oval article continues, was associated with the development of fertilizers as early as 1887. Throughout his lifetime the Canadian scientist worked in close collaboration with the British agricultural scientists, including Sir J. B. Lawes the chemist who developed the new science at Rothamsted.

The anniversary article is written by Leonard and L. Purcell and gives a complete picture of what is today an essential science. In 100 years, says the writer, the science of the soil has advanced from the days when farmers were longer a haphazard trial of poor or impoverished soil. In the laboratories of Canada and other countries scientific ideas have been developed and are still being developed to aid him.

Editors: Bulletin: May I be allowed space for your paper, to say how heartily I agree with the Canadian writer's remarks on Ottawa. I am true with my feelings to elect him. I am sure with the foot, or more, say about these other Canadian citizens, who by their anti-British ideas and expressions are doing the enemy a service. I am sure that the suggestion of putting them in the barbed wire is a pretty low

PROVINCIAL BRIEFS

CAMPBELL AND IRONSIDES IN SHARP DEBATE

Not a little excitement and interest was in evidence on Monday afternoon when Walter C. Campbell, Liberal candidate for the Wetaskiwin constituency spoke at Leduc, 14 miles southwest of Hinton, and his foremost questioner turned out to be Cyril Ironsides, C.P.F. federal candidate from Lacombe.

Following a short debate on the question of payment of five per cent interest on bonds to be used in wage payment under the C.P.F. plan, according to Mr. Ironsides, Mr. Campbell said, "If you state for that why is it not in the C.P.F. platform?" and Mr. Ironsides replied,

"We didn't have room in our platform to include it."

Mr. Campbell stated that international trade was the lifeblood of progress and that on it depended the solution of all other problems such as labor, unemployment, farming and industry. The King government's peace time record in adjustments of trade policies both with the United States and other nations was available, he said, and the Liberal Party intended to hold this great international trade that had placed Canada as fourth in the nations of the world and to expand it even further after the war.

Other post-war aims of his party, Mr. Campbell said, were to establish an enduring peace and freedom to establish a world police system to that purpose, to revise the Dominion constitution and to regulate more equitably the whole pension scheme, which in Mr. Campbell's opinion, should be handled solely by the Dominion government, and the rehabilitation of soldiers.

Robert Haskins
Speaks at Meeting
Held in Guyenne

Robert Haskins, Federal C. C. F. candidate in the Wetaskiwin constituency, was the principal speaker at a meeting held in the Guyenne hall, preceding Mr. Haskins' talk, Mr. Geoffrey Baker gave a short address, in which he stated that the Capitalistic system here and in Great Britain, as well as the U. S. has failed. He charged old line parties of failure to diagnose present evils and declared that they were powerless in times of adversity.

Mr. Haskins made a plea for calmness during present unrest. He criticized the early policy of home-aiding as having no well planned system. When questioned concerning C.P.F. plan, he stated that a ministerial public utility and natural resources, Mr. Haskins replied, "We will pay private cost for expense of development."

"She drew a long, wraithful breath. 'All right,' he said good naturedly. 'I'll let you skip it.'"

"Gladly."

The girl behind the counter was laughing, round eyed. Ann turned away. "You can't say I am," she said hotly. "This person might feel that I was pursuing him."

"Am I?"

"Am I on my way back to the stock room where I belong."

The girl, obviously curious, insisted. "Don't be silly," she said. "He's not pursuing anything." She joined Ann in the aisle.

The young man, without a backward glance, walked straight toward the back of the store. The ed to work here about a month ago. He isn't the keenest looking thing I've ever seen," she said. "It's just that makes me so furious is that he thinks I'm cheap. He didn't like me at all until Saturday night. I mistook him in here."

"Don't be harrassed now, Ann. He's good. You know, you cooled him down." She changed the subject. "My name is Gladys."

"What? You can't be friends without knowing each other's names—yours!"

"That's all right. Gladys for you. Ann raised her eyebrows inquiringly. Her features were still ruffled from their encounter with Paul Hayden.

Great Adventure Of Today Is To Win The War, Says Explorer

DISPENSING with her own explorations and adventures of 20 years, with the phrase "today's personal adventures are worth anything now," Rosita Forbes, world famous explorer, writer and lecturer, had one thing to discuss with a Bulletin reporter following her arrival in the city Tuesday afternoon—the effort we must make in winning the war.

her present task, declaring that the great adventure of today is helping Britain was the war. As the personal friend of dictators and world leaders, she has been in a position during the past years to hear opinions from their own lips, and now she counts herself doubly fortunate in having met these men for it is another aid in helping Britain.

Guests Number 100 At Dinner Dance Monday

A delightful social affair for the students attending the refresher course at the University this week, and their wives, was arranged in the main dining room of the Macdonald hotel on Wednesday evening, when they were guests at a dinner dance.

Impersonations Entertain Guests At School Concert In North Edmonton

Impersonations of the well-known dramatist—characters of Henry Drummond were presented by Mr. Fred Duane, at a concert in the North Edmonton public school recently. The program of entertainment, presented by pupils and teachers of the school, also included motion films of Belgium and Europe, kindly donated by Mr. Maurice Poiré, Belgian consul.

SEERSUCKER RAINCOAT
Smart rain wear will give the comfortable feeling of being well-protected, even when low-hanging skies really give down. A finely tailored coat with fur front closing, high neck, rayon sleeves, is made of rubberized seersucker in cheerful color-cross checks in unusual color combinations—navy and mauve, green and white, red and grey. Add umbrella to match, of course.

PIONEER MINE STRIKERS WILL BE EJECTED

VICTORIA, Feb. 28. — Striking miners who entered the Pioneer mine workings yesterday will be ejected and the mine given protection.

of disaffection with some of the former employees of the company. That the company had reason to be apprehensive would appear to be evidenced by the fact that a number of men have now entered the mine without any authority. This kind of thing cannot be tolerated in British Columbia and instructions have been given that not only must the men be removed from the mine, but the mine shall be given protection so that it cannot be again opened up for the benefit of the public.

Canadian Troops Find Comfort, Security, Might In Royal Navy Convoy

LONDON, Feb. 28.—(Glasgow Herald.)—The Canadian troops, last night, found comfort, security, and might in the Royal Navy convoy.

Mr. Shakerpeere said the heavy boats which came to the aid of the British fleet when it was forced to disengage itself from the second contingent of the Canadian Active Service Force.

GREAT EXPERIENCE

Speaking at the conclusion of the address by Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, Mr. Shakerpeere said:

"It is not only the people of this country who realize that the navy is their life blood. The people of the Dominions have seen the convoys of troops from the other side of the world."

"I had the wonderful experience of being present in a northern port upon arrival of the second Canadian contingent and talking to the men who had come over the sea."

Canadian soldiers met the most comfortable experience in their lives as they approached these shores.

"It was a day of low visibility and clouds. Suddenly the mist cleared and through it loomed the great capital ships and squadrons and flotillas of the whole fleet, bringing to them a feeling of comfort, security, protection and might."

SYMBOL APPEARS

Members present in the Bible were symbol how Eliza was once trapped in a city when the King of Assyria came down, and how Eliza lifted up his eyes and prayed to God and how he saw the raiment was filled with horses and chariots of fire.

"So it was to these Canadians, accompanied by the hands of the deep. To them appeared the spectacle of the Royal Navy, symbol of the majesty, the sea-power and the welcome of the British nation."

MINERS HOLD 'SIT-DOWN' AT PIONEER MINE

PIONEER, B.C., Feb. 28.—An undetermined number of strikers encamped last night in the depths of Pioneer mine, British Columbia's second highest gold producer, and spokesmen asserted they intended to remain there until a settlement was reached in their five-month strike.

The group—estimates of its size ranged from "about a dozen" to 20—was a pack from a door guarding No. 2 shaft early yesterday morning and entered the mine. Later, they informed company officials on the surface of their action by telephone.

The strikers, members of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, a congress of industrial organizations affiliated have been a pack from a door guarding No. 2 shaft early yesterday morning and entered the mine. Later, they informed company officials on the surface of their action by telephone.

Boston Bruins Unleash Power to Drub Hawks 6-0

BOSTON, Feb. 28.—With Roy Conacher, Mel Hill and Bill Cowley leading the way Boston Bruins ended Chicago's nine-game unbeaten streak last night, lacing the Hawks 6-0 in a National Hockey League game.

As goalie Frank Brimsek gained his fifth shutout of the campaign, the Bruins moved to within a game of the pace-setting New York Rangers. In the second period Bruins netted three goals in less than four minutes on shots fired by Hill, Cowley and little Bobby Bauer.

Early in the finale, Mush March drew a major penalty for cutting when boarded by Jesse Smith.

SCAPA FLOW BASE PROVES VULNERABLE

Royal Navy Is Unable To Use Anchorage After U-Boat Attack

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON, Feb. 28.—The Royal Navy has not been able to use the Scapa Flow anchorage since a German submarine crew past its defenses and torpedoed the battleship Royal Oak in the first few weeks of the war. Winston Churchill revealed yesterday in the House of Commons.

This revelation has come as a double shock to the average Briton who always believed Scapa Flow was an impregnable blockading point. It was a surprise from the sea.

The statement of the First Lord of the Admiralty seemed to indicate that defense weaknesses revealed at the time of the Royal Oak disaster had not been corrected. The Admiralty held an inquiry at the time, but its findings were not made public.

Scapa Flow is a great natural harbor 15 miles long and eight miles wide formed by the Orkney Islands of Plover, Hoy and South Ronaldsay. It is big enough to accommodate the whole navy and was the scene of the scuttling of the German grand fleet after the last war.

Mr. Churchill gave no indication as to whether it would be used again in this war, but he admitted that the disaster forced naval vessels to steam long distances "through dangerous waters."

Admiral Forced To Work On Yacht MacPherson Says
TORONTO, Feb. 28.—M. A. MacPherson, former Attorney General of Saskatchewan, in an address before the Conservative Business Men's Club here yesterday, charged that the Canadian government had forced a British admiral to move from an office on Canadian soil to a yacht in an Eastern Canadian harbor.

The admiral was forced to do his essential work from the yacht, he said. Mr. MacPherson gave no details.

A National government as proposed by Conservatives in the majority is "founding as a question of major importance" in Canada, he said. "The new Prime Minister King was appointed as a party representative to key Ontario businessmen. The Canadian people would prefer to have the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester installed at Ottawa."

BRITAIN WILL RELEASE NINE NAZI SAILORS

TOKYO, Feb. 28.—The Japanese foreign office announced today that British authorities would surrender nine German sailors taken from the Japanese liner Akama Maru tomorrow.

A British warship is bringing the men from Hong Kong where they were taken with 12 other Nazis last month after a British cruiser seized them from the Akama Maru.

After their release, the Germans will be placed in care of the German naval general.

On Jan. 31, the British warship halted the Akama Maru off Yokohama.

Deaths Avoidable If More Mothers Would Co-Operate

By FRED BACKHOUSE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 28.—This nation's health was officially reported to be "considerably better" in 1938, last checking period before the outbreak of war, but doctors are worried by the maternal mortality rate.

hama and took off 21 German airmen on route from the United States to Germany by Japan and Russia. Japan made vigorous protests and Britain's decision to release nine men represented a compromise.

The report of Sir Arthur Nally, the chief medical officer of the Ministry of Health, shows that although the maternal mortality rate fell from 1938 to the lowest since 1911—237 per 1,000 births—more mothers would be saved if they would co-operate with the doctors.

The ministry received full reports from 1,370 mothers. No fewer than 830 of these deaths could have been avoided. "Lack of co-operation of patient or her friends" produced 339 deaths; 36 women refused hospital treatment; 30 should not have had children.

In only 173 of these avoidable deaths was a doctor called in and only 142, when the mother should have been in hospital.

IN MIDDLE CLASSES

It is the middle classes who are mostly to blame, says the report, pointing to a table of the social circumstances of the 170 mothers who died. Those "comfortably off" easily topped the list.

One prominent gynaecologist said: "One of the doctor's greatest enemies is the woman herself. The poor use the clinics and hospitals, and the rich shun them, but the middle-class woman does not call in her doctor early enough."

The birthrate in England and Wales was up 11 per cent in 1937. The figures were 62,100, an increase of 1,647 over the number born in 1937. The number of deaths was 478, compared with 509,374.

Another record was the new low figure for infant mortality—33 per 1,000 births, as against 36 for 1937. Sir Arthur noted that this was "gratifying" but still higher than certain foreign rates.

GENERAL CAUSES

The five chief causes of death among British still remain the same for many years past—diseases of the heart, and circulatory system; cancer; bronchitis; pneumonia; and other respiratory diseases; diseases of the nervous system; and all forms of tuberculosis.

"Civilization" receives a number of raps in the report, chiefly for the diseases that follow in its train, such as nervous breakdown, neurasthenia, and other manifestations of nervous fatigue.

From this source is the conclusion: "The mental health of a nation is of great importance to its physical health, and it is becoming increasingly apparent that state medicine must pay increased attention to the prevention and treatment of nervous fatigue."

TWO-TON HIPPO
CLAMBERS ONTO
MOTORIST'S CAR

British United Press

PIETERSBURG, Transvaal, Feb. 28.—A two-ton hippopotamus started clambering over J. J. Horn's automobile when he came to a stop near Olifants, in the Transvaal.

Horn had tried to cross to the other side of the water. It was about 5 o'clock at night. He hippopotamus standing in the middle, and pulled up within 10 feet of the car.

Dazzled by the car's lights, the hippopotamus lumbered towards the car and started climbing over it. Horn backed the car from under the animal, which was three-quarters over the hood and attempting to reach the hood.

The hippopotamus crashed on its side, miffed at the car, and ambled into the bush. The front of the car was badly damaged, the bonnet being crushed flat on the engine. The mudguards were flattened down on to the wheels, and the radiator shell was torn off.

Rome, Feb. 28.—The Roosevelt Embassy in Rome left today for Berlin to meet Adolf Hitler.

ZURICH, Feb. 28.—Swiss Walter, United States under-secretary of state, arrives today on route to Berlin for a conference with Adolf Hitler, one of the high points of his observation tour of Europe for President Roosevelt.

He comes from Rome and conferences with Premier Benito Mussolini, other high Italian officials and foreign ambassadors, in a special railway car provided by the Italian government. He will stay at night tonight, leave tomorrow for Berlin, and arrive there Friday morning. Reports from Berlin say his arrival was being greeted by a cheering throng.

Welles' stay at Zurich had not been scheduled and was believed to have been decided at the last moment.

LARGE SALES OF AUSTRALIA WHEAT MADE

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 28.—Large sales of Australian wheat to overseas buyers have disposed of a surplus problem that threatened to become serious a few weeks ago.

Appearance of buyers led the Federal government to abandon, at least temporarily, plans for restriction of planting. The whole of last season's surplus and 30,000 bushels of the new crop have been sold overseas. Prices expected the carry-over will be a manageable size.

R. A. F. CARRIES OUT EXTENSIVE RECONNAISSANCE

By WALLACE CARROLL
British United Press Editor, Canada
The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Feb. 28.—For the second consecutive night British Royal Air Force planes flew over Berlin last night and extended their operations to Hanover and the German naval bases of Kiel and Cuxhaven.

The announcement of the British flights followed German reports that British planes flying in German territory had violated Dutch neutrality. Dutch anti-aircraft gunners at Amsterdam had fired on trespassing planes.

The war in the air and on the sea took a toll during the past 24 hours of four airplanes, two submarines and several merchant ships.

Dutch anti-aircraft gunners at Amsterdam fired on trespassing planes. Anti-aircraft firing had been heard in Amsterdam early in the evening and at 1:45 a.m. it started again. The planes were not destroyed.

In addition to two German bombing planes brought down yesterday by Royal Air Force fighters, the crew of the Aberdeen trawler Aurora, on reaching port, destroyed one plane.

The French did not reveal whether their current planes or anti-aircraft batteries were responsible for the two enemy craft destroyed over France.

BRITISH WHISKY
OUTPUT ORDERED
CUT ONE-THIRD

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Food Minister W. S. Morrison announced today that Britain's whisky production this year must be cut to one-third of the 1939 output because of the shortage of grain for livestock.

Similarly, he said, consumption of sugar by breweries must be reduced 30 per cent.

The restriction of whisky produc-
